Complaint To Elections Canada re: People's Party of Canada Lies, Fraud

Summary: PPC enticed people, including me via emails and social media posts to join the party to become a candidate but then used a clear lie to deny a potential nomination, ensure there was no battle for the riding of Vancouver Granville.

In the Complainants words, S. Michael Tripper:

“In my case I made good faith efforts, spent my very limited resources to get this application in with the fees but then weeks later, after not hearing from them after they said they would be getting back to people within three weeks of the application, I heard nothing back. I sent out emails to them to which I was told I had put the wrong email address on my application, they could not contact me. It was such a bizarre lie I have to complain about it. They have multiple ways to contact me.

There is correspondence between myself and the BC organizer, Naomi Chocyk that clearly shows this is nonsense. In the interim between waiting to hear back about the application and the bizarre lie, I had numerous emails from the party indicating they had that exact same email address they claimed was wrong. Further, to apply you have to supply three references with emails and phone numbers so they could have reached out to them but they had multiple ways to reach me, chose not to, then lied about it.

This does not instil governance confidence in the PPC. It reeks of Bernier and/or others using the PPC as a personal enrichment vehicle or a cult versus what they claim is their goal, governance of Canada. I note a former Christian Heritage member w/influence over parts of the Party has said things like, Atheists I give you the right to exist here in Canada, or similar, recorded on video. She personally allows their existence in Canada. It was a bizarre but telling moment, perhaps.

It looks a lot like they were fraudulently enticing people to join the party to become candidates, spend funds on criminal background checks and the like in an effort for the party to gain funding, never intending to allow candidate battles for nominations.

For me, this is the last straw, Canada is failed governance model. Even though I complained to Elections Canada, details below, I expect they can and will do nothing as they do not regulate anything outside election writ periods, as far as I can see. So any form of corruption by political parties is all good according to Canada as long as it is outside writ periods. You can say a lot of things about people seeking to separate from Canada in the West but I am very much doubtful there is a better solution for citizen representation other than separation from Canada.

Ottawa appears to be a fraud itself, with the trappings of democracy but none of the substance of one, no transparency, no citizen input, no penalties for political nor bureaucratic wrongdoing. An unaccountable, opaque power.

An elected governor general might help as would the removal of all terms like Royal, Crown, etc. but it may be better for the Provinces that are not Ontario and Quebec to become a true Federation instead of this phoney and fraudulent ‘confederation’ which means Ontario & Quebec politicians, bureaucrats and courts run the country on their narrow interests alone.”

“They sought and continue to seek financing under false circumstances. Claiming to search for candidates but not doing any of the things they said they would, including contacting applicants in a specified Time, then making very clearly false statements they could not contact me. There are many, many emails which show they are well aware of me and can contact me in multiple ways.

Lying about being able to contact me then using the same email address to further solicit me for funds is a clear example of how they are defrauding Canadians, using the party as a personal enrichment vehicle for Maxime Bernier to make money and burnish his ego while falsely claiming to be a Canadian political party. I note when he or his agents were soliciting money, memberships and police checks on potential candidates he started to talk about a leadership convention, which now is never mentioned.

Attached are a lot of pdfs showing exactly what I am saying above. They falsely denied my nomination potential with the excuse they could not contact me, that the email on nomination papers was wrong. Bizarre given how they contacted me at that same email address a week later after I applied to be a candidate along with other emails.”

“There’s more if you need them. Lots more but if you look at the dates at the above you will see their BC Coordinator acknowledge via email to be aware of both how to contact me and my application in the file ‘Re_Applied to be a candidate.pdf’.

The others show similar tales, me asking about when I can apply, being told when, then ignored then lied to about reason to deny candidacy. Likely they were just sending out fake calls for candidates, I note they said there was a March 28 deadline yet today on July 1st, 2021, their website still asks for candidates.

I think they need to be delisted as this behaviour was the final straw in me thinking Canada should not exist as it is corrupt at its core with no way for citizens to participate in the political process.

The PPC actions in trawling for dollars while pretending to be looking for candidates just so they can make money for themselves is so severely corrosive on the political process in Canada that the ‘People’s Party of Canada’ should be prevented from going forward, should be delisted at this point if this is their behaviour and modus operandi.”

Great, thank you! I did notice your earlier email; things have been quite busy for the last couple of weeks. We've been planning an impromptu trip for Maxime.

Michael, would you like to meet Maxime this weekend? I've attached posters for the two rallies that are planned. I've been helping plan the Sunday rally. I would be happy to meet you too. I noticed you applied for Vancouver Granville, I am interested to hear your story and share my experience with you.

Let m know what you think, cheers!

Star M,

I am finally back on the road! I just touched down in beautiful British Columbia a few hours ago and I am so happy to be back.

I haven't been able to travel much over the last year, but I am fed up with these draconian restrictions and I am excited to be back on the road meeting with our amazing members and supporters face-to-face!

For the next two days I am touring the Interior, but I will be in Vancouver over the weekend to speak at a couple of rallies on incredibly important topics.

The first rally will be on Saturday concerning the increasing spread of gender ideology in our schools and the impacts of the medical transition of children.

The second will be on Sunday where I will be advocating for an end to these unnecessary and ineffective lockdowns that are destroying small businesses and our economy.

Both rallies will be hosted outside of the Vancouver Art Gallery.

More details are included below:

Rally Against Child Medical-Transition and Gender Identity Ideology in Schools

Star M,

It's official! The People's Party is now the only federal party opposed to a carbon tax!

Erin O'Toole had pledged during his leadership campaign to repeal Trudeau's carbon tax and never implement one if elected.

But he flip flopped again yesterday.

We know by now that his word means nothing.

He's proposing an even more cumbersome, more bureaucratic version of the Liberal carbon tax.

He also wants to directly tax frequent flyers, non-electric cars and cottages.

Just like the Liberals, he wants to tax everything!

Trudeau's former personal secretary Gerald Butts congratulated Red Erin on Twitter.

The climate alarmist Left could not be happier: They control every party in Ottawa now.

Every party except one: The People's Party!

Star M, there's a clear dividing line.

There's PPC on one side, and five pro-carbon tax, climate alarmist, leftist parties on the other.

We must not let them occupy the whole battlefield.

Star M,

I never thought they would go this far, but here we are.

The Trudeau Liberals want to give themselves far-reaching new powers to censor the internet!

Bill C-10 was described this week by commentators as a "full-blown assault on free expression."

If passed, it would subject the whole Canadian online world to content oversight from broadcast regulators, including podcasts, online videos and websites.

Yes, that includes anything YOU post online, from cat videos to memes criticizing the government.

Another bill soon to be tabled by Heritage minister Steven Guilbeault is supposed to outlaw hate speech, child pornography, calls to violence, and other offenses online.

But these are ALREADY illegal. So why do we need another law?

Because the Liberals are trying to curtail our freedom of expression.

The past year has shown that government tyranny is a clear and present danger.

We should never forget that Trudeau admires China's "basic dictatorship."

Star M, we can't let this happen.

We can't let these fanatics destroy the foundations of our free society!

Please add your name to our petition against Internet censorship.

Would you be interested in helping me out? I would only need a few minutes of your time, but I would also be happy to chat for a bit, if you would like! And I am not seeking any donations at this time :)

Hi Michael,

I understand how you would be upset about this. Let me clarify from my perspective.

First of all, I have no control over the party's or EDA's vetting and nomination process. I was fully prepared to enter into a nomination contest with multiple rounds of public debate. I'm confident in my abilities to secure the nomination.

Now, having said that, the party does have the right to a proper vetting process in which they look at your stances, personality, online presence, your past statements, etc. I'm sure you will recall the questions they asked on the application forms?

Would you like to discuss further? I'd be happy to do so. Is there a time that works best for you?

stop harassing me, more evidence of PPC wrong-doing

On 6/29/2021 10:18 PM, Damian Jewett wrote:

I'm certainly not trying to antagonize you, especially since I hope you would be a continuing PPC supporter.

In terms of breaking election law, I'm not sure how you think I did so, considering I simply submitted my application and was then later told that I was the only approved candidate. What violation did I commit? I have email records to back this up and would be more than happy to demonstrate this in court. Also, I'm quite certain the party has full authority to accept and reject candidates as they please, considering what we've seen in the past in Canadian politics. In our riding alone, our MP is an independent as a result of being booted from her party.

When you talk about de-listing or punishing a political party, that sounds more like fascism and authoritarianism than a true believer in the PPC's strong belief in keeping Canada a free nation. I would suggest you look into other political parties that are more interested in such oppressive policies, or better yet - you're welcome to run as an independent!

Now, having said all of that, and even though I'm certainly not required to do so, I would be more than happy to engage you in public debate. If you would like to create an event, set a time and location, and have PPC supporters present to vote on the winner of the debate, if you should be declared the winner of the debate, I would be more than happy to step down and allow you to take my place as the PPC candidate for a Vancouver Granville. Does that seem fair to you? Let me know where and when, and I'll be there, in full force.

Antagonizing me is not a wise strategy, perhaps the PPC needs to be de-listed rather than punished or forced to accept my candidacy for a nomination battle if this is your behaviour. It certainly is dim-witted though I do not believe that is a defense in law for breaking Elections laws and regulations.
